INFORMATION ITEM H

SUBJECT:  PRESENTATION:  ACCREDITATION 2010 INITIAL REPORT

SUBMITTED BY:  Superintendent/President

SUMMARY:  Santa Monica College is making excellent progress in developing its institutional self-study in preparation for the March 2010 accreditation team visit. The primary activities during Fall 2009 were the setting up of appropriate structures and timelines to enable the standard committees and subcommittees to begin the task of writing first drafts of their assigned sections of the self-study. In 2004, SMC was a pilot institution for the radically revised and then controversial 2002 accreditation standards, and this experience has been valuable in guiding the College's approach to the process of developing the 2010 self-study.

The current (2002) accreditation standards incorporate the expectations set forth in prior versions—evidence that basic structures and processes are in place and that appropriate resources (mission statement, president, governing board, faculty, funding, library collection, etc.) are available for operation; evidence that institutional planning processes are in place; and student achievement data to provide evidence of course completions, persistence, degree/certificate completion, transfer, job placement, and other goal areas consistent with the mission of the institution. However, the focus throughout the 2002 standards is on viewing these and all other aspects of the institution through the lens of what students have learned as a result of attending the college. Rather than just producing the traditional types of evidence that its policies and procedures are effective, an institution must instead demonstrate that they promote student learning in terms of skills, knowledge, abilities, and affective development. Rather than just producing data, an institution must demonstrate that it uses data, both quantitative and qualitative, to improve student learning.

As pilot institutions in 2004, SMC and two other community colleges were forced to approach the self-study process virtually “without a map” in terms of dealing with the new standards, and what was learned by these three institutions contributed considerably to the Accrediting Commission’s development of the helpful materials that are now available. The Accreditation 2010 Steering Committee has adopted as its primary resource the August 2008 edition of the Commission’s Guide to Evaluating Institutions. This useful publication provides for each section of each standard specific questions that assist in focusing the institution’s response on demonstrating that it uses its resources and processes to support student learning and its continuous assessment and that it uses available data to develop a “culture of evidence.”
The Steering Committee has encouraged the standard committees and subcommittees to use these questions as the basis for conducting interviews to gather qualitative data. For example, the Standard Four (Leadership and Governance) committee recently interviewed the Board of Trustees Chair and Vice Chair, the Superintendent/President, the Executive Vice President, and other college leaders from various constituencies for this purpose.

The Guide lists for each standard the types of quantitative and qualitative data that produce evidence that the institution makes a conscious effort to:

- Make learning its core activity;
- Support and produce student learning;
- Measure that learning;
- Assess how well learning is occurring;
- Make changes to improve student learning;
- Organize its key processes to effectively support student learning;
- Allocate its resources to effectively support student learning; and
- Improve learning as an important means for institutional improvement.

This publication also identifies and describes six themes that are threaded through the standards:

- Institutional Commitment—consistency between the mission statement and institutional action;
- Evaluation, Planning, and Improvement—focus on student achievement, student learning, and effectiveness of processes, policies, and organization and an ongoing cycle of evaluation, integrated planning, implementation, and re-evaluation;
- Student Learning Outcomes—measured and assessed to determine how well learning is occurring so that changes to improve learning and teaching can be made;
- Organization (Adequate Staff, Resources, and Organizational Structure)—identify and make public learning outcomes, evaluate program effectiveness in producing outcomes and to make improvements;
- Dialogue—inclusive, informed, and intentional dialogue about quality and improvement to guide institutional change; and
- Institutional Integrity—evidence that the institution represents itself with honesty and truthfulness to internal and external stakeholders and that it is self-reflective and honest with itself in all of its operations.

In addition to the Guide to Evaluating Institutions, the Accrediting Commission released in September 2008 a supplementary document Rubric for Evaluating Institutional Effectiveness that identifies characteristics of institutional effectiveness in three major areas—program review, planning, and student learning outcomes. An accompanying letter from President Barbara Beno clearly articulates the Commission’s expectations regarding the level of implementation—awareness, development, proficiency, or sustainable continuous quality improvement—institutions should have achieved in each of these areas.

The SMC Accreditation 2010 Steering Committee has met once or twice per month throughout the fall semester and has scheduled two meetings per month for the remainder of the academic year. Led by the two accreditation self-study co-chairs, the Steering Committee includes the co-chairs for each of the four standards, the self-study co-editors, the Dean, Institutional Research, a classified staff representative, and a student representative. (Some meetings also include the co-chairs of the three Standard Two (Student Learning Programs and Services) subcommittees and the co-chairs of the four Standard Three (Resources) subcommittees. The primary Fall 2008 activities revolved around developing the organizational structure (including creation of electronic document-sharing resources), establishing timelines, evaluating institutional research requests, and a training provided in November by Accrediting Commission Vice President Jack Pond. For Winter/Spring 2009, the focus will shift to monitoring the progress of the various standard committees and subcommittees toward developing their sections of the institutional self-study and ensuring that these documents-in-progress are consistent with the themes, types of evidence, and institutional effectiveness characteristics illustrated in the Guide to Evaluating Institutions and Rubric for Evaluating Institutional Effectiveness. Significant points in the projected timeline include an April 10 deadline for the standard committees to submit a draft to the Steering Committee to allow for a two-month review period and a June 16 deadline for the Steering Committee to deliver the document to the co-editors. The co-editors will work through the summer to prepare a document to be released to the general college community for review at the beginning of the Fall 2009 semester.

As an institution is preparing for an accreditation visit, having principal participants serve on visiting teams for other institutions is extremely valuable in providing perspective to guide the process. SMC Accreditation Steering Committee members Richard Tahvildaran-Jesswein, Randal Lawson, Lesley Kawaguchi, and Jeff Shimizu have each been appointed to serve on visiting teams during Spring 2009.

INFORMATION ITEM I

SUBJECT: PRESENTATION: FACILITIES MASTER PLAN UPDATE

SUBMITTED BY: Superintendent/President

SUMMARY: SMC is currently updating the Facilities Master Plan that was first created in 1998. With the passage of Measure AA, the College has a number of new projects to plan and implement. The internationally recognized architecture and planning firm Gensler was involved in the first plan and was selected for the update. Gensler has been working with the staff for several months in gathering information on the individual projects and is currently working on an implementation plan. An update on the plans progress was presented to DPAC on December 10th and a similar presentation will be presented to the Board. Several campus and community presentations will be scheduled through early spring. A concurrent environmental assessment process is also underway.
RECOMMENDATION NO. 1

SUBJECT: 2009-2010 NON RESIDENT TUITION RATE

SUBMITTED BY: Superintendent/President

REQUESTED ACTION: The Board of Trustees adopt the rate of $189 per unit per semester for nonresident tuition for 2009-2010. This is the minimum amount the District is permitted to charge in accordance with the California Community College Chancellor’s Office calculation guidelines and is below the $196 per semester unit rate that the District is approved to charge under the Chancellor’s Office calculation guidelines.

It is further recommended that the Board of Trustees adopt a $31 per semester unit capital outlay recovery surcharge for 2009. This maintains the capital surcharge at the 2008-2009 rate and is below the $35 per semester unit rate that the District is approved to charge under the Chancellor’s Office calculation guidelines.

BACKGROUND: Education Section 76140 authorizes a district to charge a nonresident tuition fee in the event it chooses to admit nonresident students. It also authorizes districts to charge a capital outlay recovery surcharge so that districts may recover a prorated share of their capital outlay expenditures.

The election of members of the CCCT Board will take place between March 10 and April 25, 2009. Ten persons will be elected to the board this year; the ten candidates to receive the most votes will serve two-year terms. This program or plan must comply with the National Incident Management System (NIMS), the Standardized Emergency Management System (SEMS) and should incorporate the functions and principles of the Incident Command System (ICS), the Master Mutual Aid Agreement (MMAA) and any other relevant programs. The program must incorporate NIMS and SEMS to facilitate the coordination between and among agencies in the event of an emergency or natural disaster.

RECOMMENDATION NO. 16  GANN LIMIT, 2008-2009

Requested by: Chris Bonvenuto, Director, Fiscal Services
Approved by: Randy Lawson, Executive Vice-President
Requested Action: Approval/Ratification

Adopt the 2008-2009 Gann Limit for the Santa Monica Community College District as $108,001,524 and the 2008-2009 Appropriation Subject to Limitation as $97,025,419.

Comment: The Gann Limit figures are based on the prior year limit amended by a State formula. The Appropriation Subject to Limitation is based on the Adopted Budget for 2008-2009.

The Gann Limit is a required calculation under Prop 4 of 1979. The idea of the Gann is to limit the growth of government by only allowing expenditures that are tax driven to grow by a certain amount each year (Fund 01.0 only). There are two parts in the calculation: The Appropriations Limit and the Appropriations Subject to Limit. The Appropriations Limit is the maximum amount that the District can budget from tax driven revenue. (Essentially the Gann Limit). This is calculated based on previous years Gann Limit, growth in FTES and an inflation factor determined by the Department of Finance. For 2008-2009 the Appropriations Limit is $108,001,524.

The second factor, the Appropriations Subject to Limit, is how much the District has budgeted that is from tax driven revenues. This essentially is all of the tax driven revenue (Apportionment, Taxes, etc) less the budget of any mandated programs. For 2008-2009 the Appropriations Subject to Limit is $97,025,419.

As long as the Appropriations Limit is more than the Appropriations Subject to Limit, the District is in compliance. For 2008-2009 there is $10,976,105 left in the GANN Limit. This "extra" will be transferred to other Districts in the state that are over their limit. The transfer will be handled by the CCC Chancellor’s Office.

Comment: The Adopted Budget needs to be amended to reflect the totals of the departmental budgets. The current system of the Los Angeles County Office of Education requires Board approvals each month for budget adjustments. Only the net amount of the transfers in or out of the object codes is shown. In addition to the budget adjustments, transfers result from requests by managers to adjust budgets to meet changing needs during the course of the year.
