IV. SUPERINTENDENT’S REPORT

• Management Association Update: SMC Management Association President Erica LeBlanc reported that Director of Campus Operations Jeffery Peterson and his team are the winners of the newly instituted “Applause Award” for September.

• Associated Students Report: Associated Students President Cameron Henton reported that the A.S. Board of Directors approved a document that lays out a list of goals to accomplish this academic year. They include the Cayton Center renovation (with sustainable features), continuation of work on its zero-waste policy (for example, the A.S. distributes biodegradable plates and utensils to student clubs for their activities), a garden, alternative transportation, and establishment of a new scholarship for student athletes. A.S. also plans to enter into a contract with CalPIRG (California Public Interest Research Group) – a nonprofit, nonpartisan watchdog organization – to promote issues such as affordable textbooks, public transit and environmental issues.

• Updates:
  – Accreditation: Accreditation Self-Study Co-Chairs Randy Lawson and Richard Tahvildaran-Jesswein reported that progress continues on the Accreditation Self-Study, with most of the initial draft posted on the SMC website for college review and input. They noted that three of the four standards covered in the self-study have been completed and posted, and the fourth standard is expected to be posted by October 15th. In addition to the opportunity to make written remarks on the study, the college community will be given the chance to discuss the report in a series of brown bag lunch and evening meetings. The report is expected to come to the Board of Trustees in December for approval before being forwarded to the Accrediting Commission in preparation for the accreditation team visit next spring.
IV. SUPERINTENDENT’S REPORT (continued)

- Facilities Master Plan – Community Meetings: Greg Brown, Director of Facilities Planning, reported that SMC had held the first of three public meetings on SMC’s Career and Educational Facilities Master Plan 2009 Update. The first meeting, held September 30th at the Bundy campus, attracted more journalists, architects and college officials than members of the public, but attendance is expected to increase in the subsequent meetings on October 7th and 14th. Don Girard, Senior Director of Government Relations/Institutional Communications, reported that the Facilities Master Plan process will continue through the remainder of the fiscal year, with the accompanying environmental impact report scheduled to be released next spring and a final report coming to the Board next June.

- Budget: Superintendent/President Dr. Chui L. Tsang reported that the amount of the federal stimulus funds coming in to help ease the state budget cuts this fiscal year will be less than expected. However, the impact will not be significant for SMC.

Comment: This Change Order is necessary to pay for additional services the District required to incorporate the latest seismic safety standards into the project. The Architect's design was based on a Geotechnical Investigation Report dated September 4, 2008. This report made design recommendations based on the current 2007 California Building Code. In January 2009, DSA published Bulletin 09-01 (effective March 1, 2009), giving direction regarding the use of a new method known as "Next Generation Attenuation" (NGA) equations. These NGA equations were not ready to be implemented at the time the September 2008 report was prepared. Once this new information became available, the District's geotechnical firm prepared an updated report on April 9, 2009. The updated report indicated that application of the new NGA equations resulted in seismic design forces which were 25% higher than the hazard presented in the September 2008 report.

At the time it became known that the new NGA equations would result in significant changes in structural design, the architect had already completed approximately 50% of the design work for submission to DSA. The District was confronted with the choice of completing the design based on the September 2008 report or incorporating the new standards into the project. The District faced significant risk by proceeding with the design work based on the September 2008 Geotechnical Investigation Report. Although the District could have attempted to persuade DSA that design was so far along that the new equation should not be used, there was no assurance that DSA would be receptive to this position. Conversations with DSA indicated that it recommended that we use the new NGA equations. More importantly, District administration did not believe that it was appropriate to compromise the safety of the users of the building by proceeding with a design that was clearly inadequate to guard against seismic risks based on the new NGA equations. Therefore, the District directed the architect to revise the plans to incorporate the new requirements in the building's design. Under the contract with the architect, the District is required to pay the architect for the additional work that was directed.
