SUBJECT: COMMUNITY AND GOVERNMENT RELATIONS

SUBMITTED BY: Senior Director, Government Relations/Institutional Communications

COMMUNITY RELATIONS 2012-2013

The SMC Associates continues to fund activities across the spectrum of campus disciplines and interests through its membership dues and donations.

Barrett Art Gallery talks by artists were again underwritten by the Associates to add depth to the on-going scheduled exhibitions. Especially successful was the gallery talk and reception for the Kinsey Collection of important African-American art and original historical documents. The Associates again supported the 4th joint lecture of SMC and Otis Art Institute, funding distinguished guest lecturer Diedrich Diedrichsen, professor of the Arts in the Academy of Fine Arts in Vienna, Austria, speaking at the Bing Auditorium of the Los Angeles County Museum of Art.

As last year, the Associates again worked with the Broad Stage and its Arts Outreach program to provide substantial support for the 2012-2013 Master Classes. These offer SMC students the unique opportunity to work with renowned artists right on stage be it in voice, single instrument or dance and movement.

In September, together with the Veterans’ Resource Center, the Associates welcomed Congressional candidate, outspoken advocate for veterans and Purple Heart recipient Lt. Co. Tammy Duckworth. In October, Dr. Jaana Juvonen spoke to a riveted audience of students and faculty about “The Power of Bullying” and its implications for the development of youth. For Black History Month in February the Associates funded a visit by Dr. Benjamin Bowser speaking on “Gangsta Rap and Its Social Costs” to an overflowing audience.

Aside from a number of one-of-a-kind special events, six Associates-sponsored speaker series are by now a recurring feature of SMC life, attracting diverse sets of students across the college and enriching the campus:

• Distinguished Scientists, the first lecture series instituted at SMC in 1999 is now in its 14th year. The speakers are identified in close collaboration with the faculty to ensure their relevance and value to our student audience. The college is able to attract speakers of very high caliber based on the series’ longevity and its roster of distinguished past presenters. This year has seen outstanding speakers on antibiotic resistance, robotic surgery, animal parasites and more.

• The Literary Lectures, a series of readings and discussions on the craft of writing with Southern California authors enjoys the broad support of the English Department, ESL and beyond, showcasing culturally diverse authors and engendering cross-discipline conversations.
• Global Connections Series, created as the first step in the college’s Global Citizenship commitment is now in its 6th year and in 2012-13 has featured speakers on subjects as diverse as “On-Line Piracy as the Current Battleground for Intellectual Property on the Internet”, to “State Capitalism in China’s Auto Industry”, “The World in 2050”, and “How Countries Rise from the Ashes of Conflict: Lessons from the Life of a UN Diplomat”.

• Masters of Dance continues to give SMC dance students exposure to master classes and talks led by experts from the many worlds of dance, such as all parts of Africa, the Middle East, the classical European traditions, as well as American modern dance techniques, and tap and hip-hop.

• UC Press Lectures, in collaboration with the Berkeley-based UC Press, brings to the campus experts in a variety of fields, published by the Press. Members of the UC Press Associates in Southern California are specifically invited to SMC to all presentations. Dr. Julie Guthman of UC Santa Cruz challenged the taken-for-granted assumptions about the “obesity epidemic” in the fall lecture, and the spring talk features Pulitzer Prize winning author and journalist Dale Maharem from the Columbia School of Journalism, addressing “Tales From the New Great Depression.”

• The popular and well-attended Rocky Young Lecture annually presents an outstanding SMC faculty member following the template of “Best Lecture” on a diversity of topics. On May 10th at 7 p.m. Dr. Jennifer Merlic will address “The Power and the Beauty of the Molecular World: A Brief Tour” in an interactive and stimulating talk followed by a reception. Former SMC vice-president and LACCD Chancellor Darroch “Rocky” Young has confirmed he will be in attendance.

For the seventh year, on March 16th, the college participated in the Santa Monica Airport Art Walk, featuring the always-popular ceramic arts studio demonstrations as well as SMC’s mentored arts students in a studio setting and with their works available for purchase. For this event the college opens the Bundy campus for convenient public parking.

For the second year of its newest campus collaboration, the SMC Associates will be funding speakers and receptions for SMC’s Public Policy Week. Working with the Commission on the Status of Women and the League of Women Voters, the Associates also hosted a special evening with former State Senator Sheila Kuehl on “Women at the Political Table: Set It or Sit At It?” Its Women’s History Month programming also included a presentation by Dr. Robin Garrell, a distinguished scientist working to develop “laboratories on a chip”, about medical information delivery on a droplet scale.

The SMC General Advisory Board continues to be active and to experience growth in younger members from the local business and professional community, with their own set of networks and more active engagement style. The program presentations are guided by the executive committee that gives continuous feedback and suggestions.

A growing number of campus departments are developing their own enrichment programs, continuing to offer expanded opportunities for collaboration with the Office of Public Programs and Community Relations. The office is perceived as an accessible source of information, community linkages, community members to serve on various departmental advisory boards, and funding support (through the SMC Associates).
The essential task of Government Relations is to provide the District with additional avenues for institutional advancement. Past reports have provided a comprehensive look at the legislative, local governmental, and joint-use efforts that are ongoing. This report intends to provide a chronological “look back” on a single (though multi-faceted) effort by the college that has resulted in a new light rail station, proposed to be named the “17th Street/Santa Monica College” station, and a tri-party land swap that adds an additional 3.1 acres of property to SMC’s Bundy Campus.

This will both memorialize the effort—the naming and the land swap are expected to be complete by early May—and provide some insight into the length and complexity of multi-agency projects.

- SB 504 establishes Exposition Metro Line Construction Authority (“Expo”) in 2003 to construct a light rail line connecting downtown Los Angeles with Santa Monica.

- The project is divided into two phases and construction begins on Phase 1 to Culver City in 2006.

- An environmental study for Phase 2 to Santa Monica begins in 2007. The study proposes several alternate routes. The route corresponding to the one currently in construction includes six stations including downtown Santa Monica and Bergamot, but no station in between.

- In February 2007, the City of Santa Monica’s Planning Commission urges the City Council to advocate for a seventh station near 17th Street and Colorado. In March, the Council supports the concept in its letter to Expo. Also in March, SMC provides Expo with data developed by the Big Blue Bus that analyzes student home addresses and existing bus routes (Big Blue Bus concludes that the rail line “should prove to be a veritable funnel for SMC students and staff”) and requests that Expo study the additional station.

- Measure R passes in November 2008. The Los Angeles County measure approves an increase in sales tax to support transportation improvements. The new funding accelerates the timeline for Expo Phase 2. Santa Monica College funds an independent survey of Los Angeles County registered voters prior to the decision to place Measure R on the ballot and makes the results of the survey available to Metro decision-makers.

- Expo releases the Draft Environmental Impact Report (“DEIR”) in January 2009. The report includes a seventh station in its study, as an alternative to be considered. SMC students attend multiple meetings, including at the Civic Auditorium and at the County Board of Supervisors, to advocate for the inclusion of the seventh station. In March 2009, Expo announces that it will include the new station at 17th and Colorado as part of the basic plan—the decision is made!

- The DEIR also includes a light rail maintenance facility to be located in Santa Monica. The identified site is the Verizon property adjacent to SMC’s Olympic Shuttle Lot. This is an unexpected event, and for much of 2009, the City and Expo explore alternative site configurations for the facility that interface better with the surrounding community, however these alternatives negatively impact SMC’s property. The City and Expo commit to finding a solution that works for SMC.

- By October 2009, in an effort to retain a sizable residential buffer, City staff and SMC formulate the possibility of a three party land exchange among Expo, SMC and the City, which allows for using the SMC parking lot as part of the maintenance facility plan. Talks begin about a replacement parking site for SMC on property adjacent to SMC’s Bundy Campus.

- Construction on Expo Phase 2 begins in September 2011.

- Expo Phase 1 opens partially in April 2012 and to Culver City in June 2012.
• Efforts begin in 2012 regarding naming consideration for SMC at the 17th Street station. In December 2012, Board of Trustees Chair Nancy Greenstein formally requests City of Santa Monica support on behalf of Santa Monica College. In January 2013, the City Council formally requests the Metro Board to consider SMC among its naming recommendations.

• On March 21, 2013, an Executive Committee of the Metro Board unanimously approves the official and operational names of the seven stations. The official name of the 17th Street station is “17th Street/Santa Monica College” and the operational name is “17th St/SMC”. The entire Metro Board is expected to take the final vote at its meeting in May.

• The final documents for the tri-party land swap are being prepared, and the Board of Trustees anticipates hearing the matter at its May meeting. The exchange adds an additional 3.1-acre parcel to the Bundy Campus.
