

Hello!

The time has come for colleges within our system to consider adopting a common course management system. The Online Education Initiative will facilitate and subsidize the use of the Canvas CMS for colleges choosing to adopt it.

We are working out the contract details now and are also developing a timeline for implementation with Canvas. These details will be available in the next few weeks. We do know that we will be able to accommodate many colleges that are interested in adopting Canvas within the next year and anticipate that the cost of the new system will significantly reduce the cost that colleges are currently incurring for their CMS's.

Meanwhile, college communities should be having in-depth conversations about what they want to do. By spending time now in conversation about whether or not to change, those colleges wishing to adopt will be ready to implement at the appropriate time. Adoption of a new CMS requires serious consideration of the costs and benefits of making this kind of change. We've put resources together in an open Canvas course shell to assist in your decision making process. Additionally, video interviews with our own colleges who have adopted Canvas, will be added to this resource very soon. The web address for the resource site is below.

Just to clarify, there is a pilot in process for the course exchange component of the initiative, however, participation in the course exchange or in any of the three pilots is not required to adopt the system wide CMS. In addition, we know that colleges use their CMS for online and face-to-face classes and we have negotiated for entire college adoption of Canvas not just for online courses. There is also an option for colleges that choose to use Canvas for the course exchange only.

- The url for the resource site is: <http://tinyurl.com/OEIresource>
- Frequently asked questions about this process are available at the OEI site at <http://ccconlineed.org>.
- My blog posts give a good history of the OEI over the last 9 months and a new post will go up next week at <http://ccctechedge.org/opinion>
- If you have general questions, please email oei@ccnnext.net

- If you would like one of us to visit your campus, please email me at jamespat@fhda.edu

Pat James
Executive Director
CCC Online Education Initiative