CAREER EDUCATION

Advisory Board Handbook

2022-23

ADVISORY COMMITTEE MEMBERSHIP

A viable Career & Technical Education (CTE) Committee should not exceed 15-20 Voting members from government/business/industry nor be less than five (5) voting members. Full-and part-time faculty are considered ex-officio, non-voting members. Membership should include the following representative categories:

- 1. Employers and/or employees in the field for which the college program was designed, plus new members from different companies whenever possible;
- 2. University (UC, CSU & Private);
- 3. Alumni of the program currently employed in the field (minimum 2);
- 4. Student(s) currently enrolled in the program and a disabled student representative, if available;
- 5. Department Chair person;
- 6. Professionals from the community;
- 7. Counseling;
- 8. Supervising Dean and/or Dean of Workforce Education;
- 9. High School, ROPs and occupational centers;
- 10. Tech prep coordinator

It is preferred that the committee chair be selected from business, industry, government, or labor; if this is not possible, the Department Chair person should serve in this capacity.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE PURPOSE

One of the primary functions of Santa Monica College is to provide state-of-the-art CTE programs. These programs and associated curricula must be carefully planned to insure appropriate training design that meets the reasonable expectations of employers in the geographical service areas.

The Strengthening Career and Technical Education for the 21st Century Act (Perkins V) was signed into law in 2018. Ed Code Section 8070 mandate the establishment and maintenance of Career Education Advisory Committees. These committees should meet at least once a year.

The main purpose of the advisory committees is to establish partnerships among the college's CTE staff, and members of the local community representing business, industry, labor, and government. One of the many objectives for advisory committees is to provide input and recommendations to the faculty and administration. This input drives the changes needed in the operation of CTE programs to improve, expand and innovate.

Input from advisory committees is essential to the success and continuance of effective CTE programs that produce graduates qualified for jobs. It is through the efforts of such committee members that the students of Santa Monica College will benefit.

MEETING PREPARATION

- 1. Ongoing referrals entered into an advisory member database. Include contact information, company name, address, phone number, email, and company's web address.
- 2. Two months prior to the advisory meeting, schedule a date for the meeting and reserve an appropriate facility.
- 3. At least one month prior to the meeting, establish a list of potential committee members. This recommended list of committee members should be submitted to the Vice President of Academic Affairs or designee. The list should contain each member's name, position, and name of company or educational institution.
- 4. Three weeks prior to the meeting, announcements should be sent. Announcement materials may be prepared as a form letter and/or e-mail and should include an agenda. The letter should be prepared by the Department Chair person and signed. A personal telephone call confirming the meeting made to each member one week prior is an effective method of assuring good attendance.
- 5. At the meeting, the following materials are often distributed to each Advisory Committee member: current college catalog, current class schedules, copies of current program brochures, and copies of flyers on any special event of the department.

Post-meeting responsibilities

- 6. The Department Chairperson and program staff should meet as soon as possible after the meeting to review the events of the meeting, to prepare a draft of the minutes, and to address the recommendations made by the Committee.
- 7. Within three weeks following the meeting, minutes of the Advisory Board meeting should be typed and e-mailed to each committee member, including members unable to attend, and appropriate faculty and staff.

MEETING STRUCTURE

The meeting should be structured with a formal agenda. Start with a one page Chairperson report that sums up the activities and accomplishments of the department since the last advisory board meeting. Quickly update the advisors and then proceed to the real work of the meeting: having advisors provide input on current industry trends.

Depending on your style and the people in attendance, several advisory board formats are effective:

The Panel Format

Ask advisors from industry to sit in a panel at the front of the group. Send them questions in advance of the meeting or have a series of written questions to start the dialog. A theme is often appropriate. Ask educators in the audience to continue the dialog.

Classroom Format

This format is effective for large groups. Again a theme is critical to get dialog going and to include all points of view. Have an active moderator who will seek out the quiet members of the group and direct questions to them.

▶ DO:

- Include students, encourage their questions and participation.
- Thank the advisors in person and in a follow up letter including minutes.
- Provide folders with the department report, college publications, etc.
- Provide complete directions, including parking.
- Invite faculty and staff to participate.
- Serve refreshments.
- Tour your facilities with the group.
- Start and end on time.
- Make it easy to RSVP.
- Follow-up.

▶ DON'T:

- Dominate the meeting and forget to ask advisors to speak.
- Fail to take minutes

ADVISORY COMMITTEE RESPONSIBILITIES

The responsibilities of a typical advisory committee include:

1. Providing up-to-date information related to emerging trends, current and future employment needs, and future directions for the subject area;
2. Identifying the need for and/or developing new career technical programs, as well as reviewing existing programs for changes to meet the needs of the workplace;
3. Exploring program quality indicators, including standards for graduates, to ensure successful employment in the CTE area;
4. Recommending changes in facilities, equipment, materials, and staffing needs for effective up-to-date, and relevant instruction for the program;
5. Advising the college of appropriate employment opportunities, including gender-equity information for recruiting men and women into non-traditional occupational training programs;
6. Providing mentoring and job shadowing experience; and
7. Discussing opportunities for work-based learning sites.
