COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

Christopher P. Lu

U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations
for Management and Reform

Christopher P. Lu was sworn in as U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations for Management and Reform on January 4, 2022, after being nominated by President Biden and confirmed by the U.S. Senate.

As one of five ambassadors at the U.S. Mission to the U.N., Ambassador Lu works to advance American foreign policy interests in all facets of the U.N.'s work, including peace and security, development assistance, and human rights. Ambassador Lu leads the U.S. Mission's negotiations on the U.N. budget, promotes oversight of UN programs, and oversees reform initiatives.

During his public service career, Ambassador Lu has worked in all three branches of the federal government. From 2014 to 2017, he served as U.S. Deputy Secretary of Labor. The son of immigrants, Ambassador Lu was the second Asian American in history to become a deputy secretary of any cabinet department.

From 2009 to 2013, he served as White House Cabinet Secretary and Assistant to the President, where he was President Obama's primary liaison to the federal agencies. During the Obama Administration, Ambassador Lu also co-chaired the White House Initiative on Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders.

Prior to his service in the executive branch, Ambassador Lu was Legislative Director and Acting Chief of Staff for then-Senator Obama. The day after Election Day 2008, Ambassador Lu was named Executive Director of the Obama-Biden transition planning efforts.

A lawyer by training, Ambassador Lu began his career as a law clerk for Judge Robert E. Cowen on the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit, and he spent eight years as Deputy Chief Counsel of the House Oversight Committee.

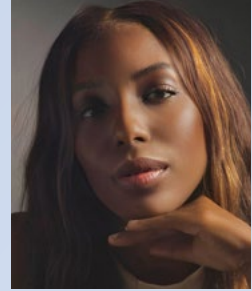

Ambassador Lu is a graduate of Princeton University and Harvard Law School.

GRADUATING STUDENT PROFILES

Monique Janee Johnson

Sharing Stories Through Fashion

Student Speaker Monique Janee Johnson got her love of baking from her mother, her interest in marketing from her sister, and her passion for fashion from her father. Before coming to Santa Monica College, she used her expertise in her first two interests to launch a bakery that ships pies to customers all over the continent. Now, having earned an Associate degree in Social and Behavioral Science from SMC, she plans to succeed in her third.

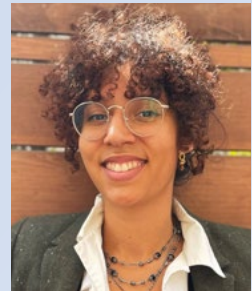

“Ever since I was a kid,” Monique says, “I’ve wanted to create a fashion house celebrating Black Southern culture and sharing Black stories across the diaspora.” Although she earned top grades and served as a student leader in high school, her plans were derailed by a traumatic assault at a university in her home state of Louisiana. She dropped out and worked in marketing for several years—including a stint in her dream location of New York—until COVID-19 hit. She never stopped dreaming of completing her education, but did not think she would be able to get into any school. Then a friend suggested she consider SMC.

“That,” says Monique, “was the spark that brought me back to my childhood dream, put me back on my path, and reminded me of the potential I have.” After transferring to Columbia University to earn her Bachelor’s degree, she plans to start a sustainable fashion company that celebrates her culture and heritage while supporting Black textile researchers and fellow designers.

Tafari Alan Super Cool & Unique

All her life, Tafari Alan worked hard to perform in a world “that wasn’t built with my super-cool and unique brain in mind.” As a neurodivergent student with undiagnosed ADHD, she kept running up against rigid systems. After trying three different high schools, she graduated early by passing the California High School Proficiency Exam. She spent the next three years healing in therapy and independently reading feminist theory.

In 2017, Tafari decided to give formal education another try. She enrolled at SMC, and found faculty mentors like Lisa Collins (Earth Science) and counselors like Tiffany Inabu (Student Life) and Sherri Bradford (Black Collegians)—and she thrived, both academically and socially.

“Having ADHD is only one facet of who I am. It makes me creative, a quick thinker, and a good brainstormer,” says Tafari, a gender studies major who graduates today with high honors and five Associate degrees, including one in General Science and two in Liberal Arts, Public Policy and Social Justice/Gender Studies.

Tafari found her community at SMC: volunteering with Basic Needs, launching the Women in STEM (WiSTEM) club, and participating in Indigenous artist Matika Wilbur’s yearlong residency. Tafari became Associated Students’ director of student outreach, then president. She helped develop the Student Equity Center and serves on the committees for Racial Justice and Pride Centers.

With admission offers from the University of Michigan, UC Berkeley, and UC Santa Barbara, Tafari has not yet decided where she will transfer. Her longterm plan is to become a community college professor and help students, especially minoritized ones, achieve their goals.

GRADUATING STUDENT PROFILES

Jasmine Christmas

Optimism, Empathy & Kindness

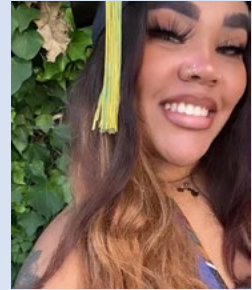

Through some extraordinary alchemy, Jasmine Christmas turned adversity into a superfuel propelling her to academic heights. She survived sexual assault and cervical cancer while in her teens, and she still struggles with PTSD and bipolar disorder.

Yet, Jasmine graduates with Associate degrees in General Science, double majoring in Pharmacology and Psychology. That makes nine total credentials earned at SMC. Jasmine holds previous degrees in Social and Behavioral Science, Arts and Humanities, and General Education, plus an array of professional certificates. And she will return to SMC next fall to complete certificates in Early Childhood Education and American Sign Language.

Jasmine intends to be a pharmacist, and she's taking a route few students travel: She has applied directly to Doctor of Pharmacology (PharmD) programs without a Bachelor's degree. Thanks to her multiple Associate degrees and practical background as a pharmacy tech—she's worked full time at Walgreens and CVS since 2017, Ralphps since 2022—Jasmine hopes to show graduate admission committees she has what it takes to succeed.

As a Corsair, Jasmine got involved in many campus communities. She found her voice in the Black Collegians Club, serving as its first ICC delegate and getting elected twice as club president. She was also active in STEM/SRI, Phi Theta Kappa, and the Games Club.

The many threads of Jasmine's education come together when she explains her mission in life: "I wanted to travel around the world and do pro bono work in mental health services for low-income areas. I'm hoping to cater to the less fortunate."

Vershaun Evans On Her Way Upward

Vershaun "Shawnni" Evans cannot wait to be a social worker.

"I feel like I'm on fire right now," says the 34-year-old single mother of two. "I want to just jump right in, keep going, and get my Master's."

Coming straight out of high school, "I wasn't really prepared," she admits. Ten years passed, with Shawnni working full time as a civil servant while raising daughters Ta'Leeyah, 15, and Ta'Jah, 12.

When Shawnni returned to SMC in 2018, she hit the ground running.

Now in her first year at Cal State LA—with a Sociology major and Psychology minor—she is back today to collect her Associate degree in Arts and Humanities. She completed her studies for the Associate Degree for Transfer in 2022.

Shawnni benefitted from having close family role models in her cousin Robert Adams, former SMC vice president for student affairs, and her aunt Phyllis Hall, a longtime faculty member at Long Beach City College. Still, Shawnni believes her success hinged on SMC support groups like Black Collegians, EOPS, CalWORKs, the RISING Program, and even the Center for Students with Disabilities (DSPS), which furnished her with note-takers after a workplace injury left her hand temporarily in a cast.

Currently a senior clerk typist with Los Angeles County's purchasing department, Shawnni is excited about transferring into social services or mental health once she gets her Bachelor's degree.

"That's the beauty of it," she says. "My career is all set. I have lots of mobility within the County."

GRADUATING STUDENT PROFILES

Ahmad Rizwan Walking Through Open Doors

Just as Ahmad Rizwan was graduating with honors from Culver City High School, the pandemic shut down college campuses across the country. Moving into a dorm only to attend classes online made no sense to Ahmad, so he turned down admission offers from several four-year colleges and enrolled at SMC.

“I think I made a good choice,” says the 21-year-old Corsair, who graduates today with an Associate degree in General Science. In the fall, he transfers to UC Irvine with a major in mechanical engineering.

A first-generation college student, Ahmad immigrated with his tight-knit family from Lahore, Pakistan, in 2012. His two older siblings also studied at SMC before transferring to four-year universities. His hard-working father supports the family as a laborer.

Looking back, Ahmad says, “I’m very glad that I came to SMC because of all the available resources. Everyone is very supportive, especially the counselors at STEM and EOPS—they really do guide you.”

The STEM program opened doors Ahmad did not know existed. It connected him with UCLA’s Community College Field Biology Alliance Program, where he was mentored by working scientists and produced his own independent research on the feeding behavior of mallards and seagulls.

The following year, Ahmad landed a coveted Station1 Frontiers Fellowship. The MIT-based program steeped him in the values of “socially directed science,” then placed him in a paid summer internship with the Institute for Sustainable Infrastructure, a Washington, D.C.-based nonprofit organization promoting green construction practices in the building trades.

Ahmad’s goal is to pursue a career in the sustainability, construction, or aerospace sector of engineering.

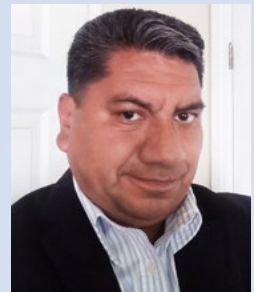

Jose Rosales RISING to the Next Level

Jose Rosales, who trained as an engineer in his birth country of Mexico, majored in business administration at Santa Monica College. Shortly after starting here, he joined RISING (Re-entering Incarcerated and System Impacted Navigating Greatness), which connects students affected by the justice system to vital resources for success.

He knew it was the right decision as soon as he met RISING counselor Nick Bravo. Together, they crafted an education plan to help fulfill Jose’s goals. Combined with Jose’s academic drive, the plan worked. He earned top grades and has been accepted into CSU Northridge.

After transferring, Jose wants to pursue a higher degree in Business Administration. He plans to go into supply chain management, helping goods get to consumers around the world. Since products need to be transported to those consumers, he knows the field offers numerous opportunities, and Southern California is a major hub. Jose’s future endeavors may even take him back to Mexico, allowing him to leverage his bilingual fluency. “Big Mexican companies do a lot of business with the U.S.,” he notes.

No matter what lies ahead, Jose says SMC has thoroughly prepared him—and changed his life. “I’ve faced many obstacles,” he says. But with SMC’s support, he’s no longer letting anything hold him back from the success he deserves. “Every single professor at SMC has been great,” Jose says. “Coming here has been a really positive experience.”

PROUD TO BE SMC

MOMENTS OF 2022-2023

- ▶ Santa Monica College maintained a consecutive 32-year streak as the No.1 transfer college to the University of California system! SMC sent 1,200 students to UC campuses in the prior academic year—and also kept the No. 1 spot for African American and Latinx transfers to the University of California—and continues to remain the leading transfer college to USC and Loyola Marymount University. In addition, SMC is the top feeder west of the Mississippi to the Ivy League Columbia University.
- ▶ The Los Angeles County Economic Development Corporation recognized SMC as its 2022 Education Honoree at the 27th Annual Eddy Awards for “its continuous delivery of higher education, career training, and cultural enrichment to its community of students.”
- ▶ The $375 million bond Measure SMC was approved by Santa Monica and Malibu voters in November 2022! Measure SMC will make possible much-needed updates to existing SMC career training facilities, create new housing for eligible low-income students, and provide technology upgrades to meet emerging needs in the post-pandemic world.
- ▶ SMC’s first-ever Malibu Campus began serving students in spring 2023, and the ribbon-cutting and open house on April 22, 2023, featured a grand celebration that included leaders from partners including City of Malibu, Los Angeles County, and L.A. County Sheriff’s Department.
- ▶ SMC received a $1 million grant from the W. M. Keck Foundation for a new equity-centered biotechnology career education program launching in late 2023. The brand-new program will meet the growing industry demand for cancer-fighting scientists in Santa Monica and the Greater Los Angeles area while offering students from marginalized backgrounds a direct pathway into a dynamic industry.
- ▶ The League of American Bicyclists honored SMC with its second consecutive Silver-level Bicycle Friendly University (BFU) award in recognition of SMC’s achievements in promoting and enabling safe, accessible bicycling on campus. SMC remains the only California Community College to be designated a Bike Friendly University!
- ▶ Santa Monica College received a $942,225 grant from the California Community Colleges Chancellor’s Office to establish the new NextUp Program to increase access for current and former foster youth to critical academic and other services.
- ▶ The Santa Monica Early Childhood Lab School—a groundbreaking child development facility born out of a decades-long collaboration among SMC, City of Santa Monica, RAND Corporation, and the Santa Monica Early Childhood Task Force—has earned a LEED Platinum certification from the U.S. Green Building Council (USGBC).
- ▶ SMC’s academic programs and students won a ton of awards in 2022-2023. To list only a few: student-run media outlet “The Corsair” and its staff won more than two dozen awards from organizations including Associated Collegiate Press, Society of Professional Journalists, and the Journalism Association of Community Colleges. Also, Corsair contributor/film major Ethan Swope was named the 2022 White House News Photographers Association (WHNPA) ‘Eyes of History®’ Student Still Photographer of the Year.
- ▶ And the SMC film production program continued to rack up accolades, including “Leaving the Factory,” winning the Russo Brothers Italian American Film Forum, and “Azizam” becoming the eighth SMC student film to be accepted into the 24th American Pavilion Emerging Student Showcase during the 2023 Cannes Film Festival.

CORSAIR OVERTURE

Santa Monica College is not unusual in playing Elgar's Pomp & Circumstance as the academic procession enters Corsair Field at commencement ceremonies each year. But the College has put its own unique musical stamp on commencement since 2000 by playing a piece composed by SMC Music Professor Dr. David Goodman, now retired.

Dr. Goodman's Corsair Overture was written in 2000 for SMC's 70th anniversary celebration and was premiered at the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium by the SMC Symphony and the SMC Concert Chorale, conducted by Dr. James Smith. The text for this piece is an excerpt from Lord Byron's epic poem of the same name. Corsair, which means "pirate" in French, is the mascot of Santa Monica College.

Dr. Goodman taught theory, musicianship, and composition at SMC. He was awarded the first SMC Ilona Katz Chair of Excellence in Music in 2001, and was appointed to his second Chair of Excellence in 2007.

ACADEMIC APPAREL

The traditional attire worn at commencement had its beginnings in the Middle Ages, seemingly at Oxford and Cambridge Universities. In the United States, as a result of its English heritage, caps and gowns have been used since colonial times. In the 1880s, a widespread student movement to dignify the event by wearing caps and gowns reminiscent of the traditions of university life led to the adoption of a uniform code for caps, gowns, and hoods for the various degrees.

The colors of the academic dress have a significance deeply rooted in the tradition of academic life and are specified by a uniform code maintained by the American Council on Education. Doctoral gowns are full, with bell-like sleeves. The front is marked by velvet panels, and the sleeves are marked by three velvet bars. While most gowns are black with black velvet, one variation is to replace black velvet with velvet in the discipline color. A second variation is a colored gown, usually of the university's colors. Master's gowns, also black, are longer than Bachelor's and Associate's gowns.

Caps are black and are usually mortar boards with tassels. Doctors of Philosophy wear gold tassels, usually of metallic thread; other degrees wear black or discipline colors.

All hoods specify the level of degree, the discipline studied, and the awarding institution. First, degree level is signified by the size of the hood, with Bachelor's smallest, Master's larger, and Doctor's quite large and of a different shape. The width of the velvet trim also conveys the degree. Second, the discipline is indicated by the color of the trim edging the hood to form the throat over the gown. Finally, the color of the hood's lining specifies the awarding institution. Discipline colors include white for arts, gold for science, light blue for education, dark blue for philosophy, and so forth.
